Public Archaeologies of Frontiers and Borderlands Kieran Gleave, Howard Williams, Pauline Magdalene Clarke, 2020-11-26 Select proceedings of the 4th University of Chester Archaeology Student conference Chester 20 March 2019 investigate real world ancient and modern frontier works the significance of graffiti material culture monuments and wall building as well as fictional representations of borders and walls in the arts as public archaeology

Archaeology and the Media Timothy Clack, Marcus Britain, 2016-09-16 The public's fascination with archaeology has meant that archaeologists have had to deal with media more regularly than other scholarly disciplines How archaeologists communicate their research to the public through the media and how the media view archaeologists has become an important feature in the contemporary world of academic and professional archaeologists In this volume a group of archaeologists many with media backgrounds address the wide range of questions in this intersection of fields An array of media forms are covered including television film photography the popular press art video games radio and digital media with a focus on the overriding question What are the long term implications of the increasing exposure through and reliance upon media forms for archaeology in the contemporary world The volume will be of interest to archaeologists and those teaching public archaeology courses

Global Social Archaeologies Koji Mizoguchi, Claire E Smith, 2019-06-27 Global Social Archaeologies contributes to the active engagement of contemporary social archaeology through addressing issues such as postcolonialism community heritage and Indigenous rights It addresses the major challenge of breaking down global divides especially in relation to fundamental human rights inequality and inequities of wealth power and access to knowledge This authoritative volume authored by the current and past presidents of the World Archaeological Congress introduces readers to the various theoretical and methodological tools available for the investigation of the past Taking into account the implications for contemporary societies it offers a new framework for social archaeologies in a globalised world By combining new data from their research with an innovative synthesis and analysis of leading research by others the authors have developed fresh conceptualisations and understandings of archaeology as a social practice and of the ways in which it simultaneously straddles the past present and future Exploring a range of case studies and enhanced by a wealth of illustrations Global Social Archaeologies highlights a new approach to archaeology one that places human rights at the core of archaeological theory and practice

The Missile Crisis from a Cuban Perspective Håkan Karlsson, Tomás Diez Acosta, 2019-03-04 Previous works on the Cuban Missile Crisis 1962 have approached the topic from the point of view of the U S and its allies while Cuban experiences have still not been sufficiently discussed This book presents new aspects which have seldom or never been offered before giving a detailed account of the crisis from a Cuban perspective It also investigates the archaeological and anthropological aspects of the crisis by exploring the tangible and intangible remains that still can be found on the former Soviet missile bases in the Cuban countryside and through interviews which add a local human dimension to the subject

Ethics and Archaeological Praxis Cristóbal Gnecco, Dorothy Lippert, 2014-11-10 Restoring the historicity and plurality of archaeological ethics is a task to which this book is devoted its emphasis on praxis mends the historical condition of ethics In doing so it shows that nowadays a multicultural sometimes also called public ethic looms large in the discipline By engaging communities differently archaeology has explicitly adopted an ethical outlook purportedly striving to overcome its colonial ontology and metaphysics In this new scenario respect for other historical systems worldviews and social accountability appear to be prominent Being ethical in archaeological terms in the multicultural context has become mandatory so much that most professional international and national archaeological associations have ethical principles as guiding forces behind their openness towards social sectors traditionally ignored or marginalized by their practices This powerful new ethics its newness is based to a large extent in that it is the first time that archaeological ethics is explicitly stated as if it didn t exist before emanates from metropolitan centers only to be adopted elsewhere In this regard it is worth probing the very nature of the dominant multicultural ethics in disciplinary practices because a it is at least suspicious that at the same time archaeology has tuned up with postmodern capitalist market needs and b the discipline along with its ethical principles is contested worldwide by grass roots organizations and social movements Can archaeology have socially committed ethical principles at the same time that it strengthens its relationship with the market and capitalism Is this coincidence just merely haphazard or does it obey more structural rules The papers in this book try to answer these two questions by examining praxis based contexts in which archaeological ethics unfolds

Returning to Religion Jonathan Benthall, 2008-09-30 How can one explain the resurgence of religion even in a western context of rationality postmodernity and scientific endeavour The persistence of religious expression has compelled even diehard secularists or proponents of the secularization thesis to rethink their positions Jonathan Benthall explains precisely why societies are not bound to embrace western liberal rationality as an evolutionary inevitability He shows that the opposite is true that where a secular society represses the religious imagination the human predisposition to religion will in the end break out in surprising apparently secular modes and outlets Concentrating on what he calls para religion a kind of secular spirituality that manifests itself within movements and organisations who consider themselves motivated by wholly rational considerations Benthall uncovers a paradox despite themselves they are haunted by the shadow of irrationality Arguing that humanitarianism environmentalism the animal rights movement popular archaeology and anthropology all have religioed aspects his startling conclusion is that religion rather than coming back in fact never went away A human universal the religious inclination underlies the fabric of who we are and is essential for the healthy functioning of any society

Heritage and Wellbeing Faye Sayer, 2024-07-04 Heritage and Wellbeing examines what role heritage can play in creating healthier societies exploring how heritage can improve people s wellbeing through a range of international case studies These studies include Bangalore Fort Imperial War Museum Duxford Biltmore Estate and Chatsworth House It presents significant new research in the field of wellbeing studies and public heritage key chapters that evaluate museums heritage sites and archaeology providing evidence how these different activities pro actively and positively influence wellbeing Faye Sayer provides evidence of how visiting and engaging with heritage places could provide the key to healthier and happier societies arguing the benefits of heritage should be regarded as a key player in improving wellbeing and mental health and reducing wellbeing inequality

The SAA Archaeological Record, 2007 The magazine of the Society for American Archaeology Encyclopedia of Archaeology Deborah M. Pearsall, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Archaeology encompasses all aspects of archaeology including the nature and diversity of archaeology as a scientific discipline the practice of archaeology archaeology in the everyday world and the future of the discipline Featured in the Encyclopedia of Archaeology are articles by leading authors that summarize archaeological knowledge at the beginning the 21st century highlighting important sites and issues and tracing the development of prehistoric cultures around the globe

Contemporary Archaeologies Cornelius Holtorf, Angela Piccini, 2011 This book is about the archaeology of the present and the very recent past Archaeology s repertoire of questions procedures methodologies and terminologies its material manifestations protected sites public museums archives and its popular appeals are rooted in modernity Contemporary archaeologies marry archaeology in the modern world with the archaeology of the modern world Their strengths lie in a stimulating mix of interdisciplinary practices across academic public sector and professional contexts This book brings together a wide variety of original case studies from contemporary theme parks to the bases of Antarctica expeditions from a rocket engine test site in Australia to Swedish automobile history from tiger enclosures to the privatisation of experience and from a Nevada peace camp to a stretch of gutter in Bristol Taking Archaeology Out of Heritage Emma Waterton, Laura Jane Smith, 2009 Archaeology has on the whole tended to dominate the development of public policies and practices applicable to what is often referred to as heritage This book aims to examine the conflation of heritage with archaeology that has occurred as a result To do so it asks whether archaeology can usefully contribute to critical understandings of heritage which the volume contends must consider heritage both in terms of what it is and the cultural social and political work it does in contemporary societies Archaeologists have been very successful in protecting what they perceive to be their database a success that owes much to the development and maintenance of a suite of heritage management practices that work to legitimize their privileged access to and control of that database However is archaeological data actually heritage Moreover does archaeological knowledge offer a meaningful reflection of the historic environment in terms of the uses values and associations it carries for the various and different communities or publics that engage with that environment heritage The volume brings together academic and field archaeologists academics from heritage studies and community activists from the UK and Europe more generally to debate these issues The South African Archaeological Bulletin, 2005 Archaeology is a Brand Cornelius Holtorf, 2007 Possessors of a widely recognized positively valued and well underpinned brand archaeologists need to take more seriously the appeal of their work and its relationship to society and popular culture DECOLONIZING CONSERVATION Dean Sully, 2007 This book challenges the commodification of sacred objects and places by western conservation thought by examining conservation activities at Maori marae meeting houses located in the US Germany and England contrasted with changes in marae conservation in New Zealand Lund Archaeological Review, 2009 Reading Archaeology Robert James Muckle, 2008 Not many archaeology books are as useful and well written with both faculty and student in mind Mark Lewine Cuyahoga Community College E-learning Archaeology H. van Londen, Marjolijn S. M. Kok, Arkadiusz Marciniak, 2009 This book is a contribution to a growing body of e learning applications in archaeology and archaeological heritage Its main aim is to discuss various facets of the Leonardo da Vinci project E learning as a tool of knowledge transfer in the field of protection and management of archaeological heritage completed in the years 2007 2009 by six European partners in the context of other undertakings in distance learning solutions in archaeology over the last few years The project's explicit objective was to exchange the best practices and innovative solutions in the field of the archaeological heritage of northern Europe In particular its major purpose was to design develop test assess and implement web based training solutions in developing and upgrading vocational skills in this sector by preparing and conducting a multimedia e learning course composed of fifteen interrelated modules Furthermore the project developed and implemented new methodology including the transfer of knowledge from the conventional to the e learning format and the elaborated training methodology The book is composed of an introduction and eleven chapters Seven of them refer directly to various facets of the project such as its design methodology implementation and evaluation The remaining four contributions discuss current initiatives in implementing different distance and e learning solutions in archaeology The introductory chapter written by Mark Pluciennik debates extensively the benefits and failures of distance learning and e learning as well as pressures for convergence between them as well as between e learning and traditional learning For the author e learning is a complement mode of content delivery which in places proves to be the most efficient one However it is clear that not all learning can be done through digital presentation video or the manipulation of processed data This is especially so in the discipline such as archaeology where one has to learn a range of practical and embodied skills If we choose to implement e learning solutions however it is necessary to provide a serious structural resource and staff support being a prerequisite for supplying and maintaining high quality and up to date education The following seven papers cover various aspect of the project itself They discuss the training content as well as methodology of the course production and training In particular they refer to the models and methods of distance training and their applicability for the sector of archaeological heritage and tools used in the distance learning process use of multimedia learning management systems supporting conducting distance learning in particular the LMS LCMS system s functionality as well as details of the course s preparation and implementation and the training process An important part of the book is aimed at evaluating the course content and training process It is based upon careful and systematic questionnaires that were collected among trainees in all participating countries after the completion of the course This section contains also personal accounts of both trainers and trainees The last two papers present two ongoing e learning programme in archaeology implemented These comprise project Arkeonet conducted by the Aranzadi Science Society Spain and a Leonardo da Vinci project Archaeology and Construction Engineering Skills ACES
