Frontiers Of Development Economics The Future In Perspective:

Frontiers of Development Economics Gerald M. Meier, Joseph E. Stiglitz, 2001 With contributions from 35 leading economists this forward looking book explores the future of development economics against the background of the past half century of development thought and practice Outstanding representatives of the past two generations of development economists assess development thinking at the turn of the century and look to the unsettled questions confronting the next generation The volume offers a thorough analysis of the broad range of issues involved in development economics and it is especially timely in its critique of what is needed in development theory and policy to reduce poverty An overriding issue is whether in the future development economics is to be regarded simply as applied economics or whether the nature and scope of development economics will constitute a need for a special development theory to supplement general economic theory Frontiers of Development Economics is an ideal reference for all those working in the international development community

Frontiers in Development The World Bank, 2000 Co edited by the Vice President of the World Bank this volume offers cutting edge work from a new generation of dynamic thinkers in development economics

Infrastructure Investments in Developing Economies Giang Dang, Low Sui Pheng, 2014-10-18 This book aims to provide knowledge on how infrastructure is planned and built in a typical developing country and what key variables are there in the system limiting the efficient use of public investments in infrastructure The book begins with a comprehensive literature review on construction and economic development and trade and economic development The focus of the book is on the case of Vietnam with lessons drawn for other developing economies The book employs the mixed use of data to provide a stronger basis for analysis and interpretation of related government policies Based on the research findings the book recommends significant capacity building work for Vietnam to develop capacities that would remove constraints on the efficient use of public investments in infrastructure The general principles of significant capacity building work which are useful for policy implications are introduced in the book Analysts academics public and private communities in developing countries can adopt the research findings as guiding principles to bring about changes in their current use of public investments in infrastructure thus supporting their trade and economic growth in the long term

Globalisation, Poverty and Conflict Max Spoor, 2005-12-29 Is development pass Is it merely a by product or a trickle down effect of economic growth spurred by globalisation Will poverty simply diminish with increased global markets This state of the art critical development reader deals with these and related questions Globalisation Poverty and Conflict examines the inter relationships between globalisation poverty and conflict It complements current debates in the field of development studies and in an era in which development fatigue seems to have become more profound than ever before it brings the importance of development once again to the forefront Achieving the Millennium Development Goals by 2015 is a concrete target which many governments have agreed to work towards Whether these goals can be realised is another issue Nonetheless the Millennium Development

Goals have brought more focused attention to development in the past few years and renewed debate about the relationships between the process of globalisation and widespread poverty and the emergence of violent conflicts The authors in this edited volume discuss these inter related and highly controversial topical elements of development in a number of chapters organised around three sets of issues 1 globalisation inequality and poverty 2 governance civil society and poverty and 3 resource degradation institutions and conflict The contributions represent current thinking on and practice of development policy poverty reduction the need for multi level democratic institutions and the containing and prevention of conflicts The authors confront the predominant mainstream ideas on development and propose alternatives The chapters written by a select group of scholars and development practitioners will be of direct interest to those involved in this field of social sciences and in development practice but they are composed in such a way as to remain accessible for the generally interested reader

The Economic Sociology of Capitalism Victor Nee, Richard Swedberg, 2020-09-01 This book represents a major step forward in the use of economic sociology to illuminate the nature and workings of capitalism amid the far reaching changes of the contemporary era of global capitalism For the past twenty years economic sociologists have focused on mesa level phenomena of networks but they have done relatively little to analyze capitalism as an overall system or to show how such phenomena emerge from and shape the dynamics of capitalism The Economic Sociology of Capitalism seeks to change this by presenting both big picture analyses of capitalism and more focused pieces on institutions crucial to capitalism The book which includes sixteen chapters by leading scholars in economic sociology is organized around three broad themes The first section addresses core issues and problems in the new study of capitalism the second considers a variety of topics concerning America the leading capitalist economy of the world and the third focuses attention on the question of convergence stemming from the global transformation of capitalism and the challenge of explaining institutional change The contributions which follow a foreword by economic historian Avner Greif and the editor s introduction are by Mitchel Abolafia James Baron and Michael Hannan Mary C Brinton John Campbell Gerald Davis and Christopher Marquis Paul DiMaggio and Joseph Cohen Peter Evans Neil Fligstein John Freeman Francis Fukuyama Ko Kuwabara Victor Nee Douglass C North AnnaLee Saxenian Richard Swedberg and Viviana Zelizer

China's Education Aid to Africa Wei Ye, 2023-05-31 China s rise as an aid provider in Africa has caught global attention with China s activity being viewed as the projection of soft power of a neo colonialist kind in an international relations context This book which focuses on China s education aid government scholarships training Confucius Institutes dispatched teachers etc reveals a much more complicated picture It outlines how the divide between the Chinese Ministry of Commerce and the Ministry of Education hinders China s soft power projection how much of China s aid is bound up with an education for economic growth outlook mirroring China s own recent experiences of economic development and how China s aid prioritized to reflect the commercial sector s interests is out of step with most international development aid which is dominated by education agendas and the campaigns of international organizations and traditional donors this leaves China easily exposed to the charge of neo colonialism This situation also reveals insufficient knowledge production of China and in South South Cooperation Substantial production of Southern knowledge should recognize the international development cooperation architecture as an open system by which both traditional donors and Southern countries transform

Two Essays on Development Economics ,2006 We analyze the emergence of large scale education systems in a framework where growth is associated with changes in the configuration of the economy We model the incentives that the economic elite could have collectively to accept taxation destined to finance the education of credit constrained workers Contrary to previous work in our model this incentive does not necessarily arise from a complementarity between physical and human capital in manufacturing Instead we emphasize the demand for human capital intensive services by high income groups Our model seems capable to account for salient features of the development of Latin America in the nineteenth century where in particular land rich countries such as Argentina established an extensive public education system and developed a sophisticated service sector before starting significant manufacturing activities Authors abstract
