

The background image is a dark, atmospheric photograph of an industrial or underground setting. It features a series of curved, metallic, ribbed structures that create a sense of depth and perspective, leading the eye towards a bright light source in the distance. A lone worker in an orange safety vest and hard hat is visible in the lower-left foreground, providing a sense of scale. The overall mood is somber and mysterious.

The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Environmental Law Emma Lees, Jorge E. Viñuales, 2019-04-25 This Handbook is the first comprehensive account of comparative environmental law It examines in detail the methodological foundations of the discipline as well as the substance of environmental law across countries from four vantage points country studies from all continents responses to common problems including air pollution water management nature conservation genetically modified organisms climate change and energy chemicals waste foundational components of environmental law systems including principles property rights administrative and judicial organisation command and control regulation market mechanisms informational techniques and liability mechanisms and common interactions of environmental protection with the broader public private and criminal law contexts The volume brings together the foremost authorities in this field from around the world to provide a concise self contained and technically rigorous account of environmental law as a single overall system      Energy and Empire George A. Gonzalez, 2012-09-01 What set the United States on the path to developing commercial nuclear energy in the 1950s and what led to the seeming demise of that industry in the late 1970s Why in spite of the depletion of fossil fuels and the obvious dangers of global warming has the United States moved so slowly toward adopting alternatives In Energy and Empire George A. Gonzalez presents a clear and concise argument demonstrating that economic elites tied their advocacy of the nuclear energy option to post 1945 American foreign policy goals At the same time these elites opposed government support for other forms of energy such as solar that cannot be dominated by one nation While researchers have blamed safety concerns and other factors as helping to arrest the expansion of domestic nuclear power plant construction Gonzalez points to an entirely different set of motivations stemming from the loss of America's domination control of the enrichment of nuclear fuel Once foreign countries could enrich their own fuel civilian nuclear power ceased to be a lever the United States could use to economically politically dominate other nations Instead it became a major concern relating to nuclear weapons proliferation

Carbon Capture and Storage Ian Havercroft, Richard Macrory Hon KC, Richard Stewart, 2018-02-08 Carbon Capture and Storage CCS is increasingly viewed as one of the most significant ways of dealing with greenhouse gas emissions Critical to realising its potential will be the design of effective legal regimes at national and international level that can handle the challenges raised but without stifling a new technology of potential great public benefit These include long term liability for storage regulation of transport the treatment of stored carbon under emissions trading regimes issues of property ownership and increasingly the sensitivities of handling the public engagement and perception Following its publication in 2011 Carbon Capture and Storage quickly became required reading for all those interested in or engaged by the need to implement regulatory approaches to CCS The intervening years have seen significant developments globally Earlier legislative models are now in force providing important lessons for future legal design Despite these developments the growth of the technology has been slower in some jurisdictions than others This timely new edition will update and critically assess these updates and provide context for the development of CCS in 2018 and beyond      Environment Abstracts Annual , 1987 This database encompasses all aspects of the impact of people and technology on the environment and the effectiveness of remedial policies and technologies featuring more than 950 journals published in the U S and abroad The database also covers conference papers and proceedings special reports from international agencies non governmental organizations universities associations and private corporations Other materials selectively indexed include significant monographs government studies and newsletters
