Field Notes From A Catastrophe A Frontline Report On Climate Change:

Field Notes from a Catastrophe Elizabeth Kolbert, 2007-01-01 Explores the issue of global warming from every angle incorporating interviews with researchers and environmentalists explaining the science and the studies and presenting the personal tales of those who are being affected most Climate Change and Society John Urry, 2011-06-20 This is the first book to develop a proper sociology of climate change and will be an excellent companion to Tony Giddens The Politics of Climate Change Education and Climate Change Fumiyo Kagawa, David Selby, 2010-04-15 There is widespread consensus in the international scientific community that climate change is happening and that abrupt and irreversible impacts are already set in motion What part does education have to play in helping alleviate rampant climate change and in mitigating its worst effects In this volume contributors review and reflect upon social learning from and within their fields of educational expertise in response to the concerns over climate change They address the contributions the field is currently making to help preempt and mitigate the environmental and social impacts of climate change as well as how it will continue to respond to the ever changing climate situation With a special foreword by Desmond Tutu Archbishop Emeritus of Cape Town

Activist Science and Technology Education Larry Bencze, Steve Alsop, 2014-06-05 This collection examines issues of agency power politics and identity as they relate to science and technology and education within contemporary settings Social economic and ecological critique and reform are examined by numerous contributing authors from a range of international contexts These chapters examine pressing pedagogical questions within socio scientific contexts including petroleum economies food justice health environmentalism climate change social media and biotechnologies Readers will discover far reaching inquiries into activism as an open question for science and technology education citizenship and democracy The authors call on the work of prominent scholars throughout the ages including Bourdieu Foucault Giroux Jasanoff Kierkegaard Marx Nietzsche Rancière and others The application of critical theoretical scholarship to mainstream practices in science and technology education distinguishes this book and this deep theoretical treatment is complemented by many grounded more pragmatic exemplars of activist pedagogies Practical examples are set within the public sphere within selected new social movements and also within more formal institutional settings including elementary and secondary schools and higher education These assembled discussions provide a basis for a more radically reflexive reworking of science and technology education Educational policy makers science education scholars and science and technology educators amongst others will find this work thought provoking instructive and informative After the Car Kingsley Dennis, John Urry, 2013-05-20 It is difficult to imagine a world without the car and yet that is exactly what Dennis and Urry set out to do in this provocative new book They argue that the days of the car are numbered powerful forces around the world are undermining the car system and will usher in a new transport system sometime in the next few decades Specifically the book examines how several major processes are shaping the future of how we travel including Global warming and its many global consequences Peaking of oil supplies Increased digitisation of many aspects of economic and social life Massive global population increases The authors look at changes in technology policy economy and society and make a convincing argument for a future where by necessity the present car system will be re designed and re engineered Yet the book also suggests that there are some hugely bleak dilemmas facing the twenty first century The authors lay out what they consider to be possible post car future scenarios These they describe as local sustainability regional warlordism and digital networks of control After The Car will be of great interest to planners policy makers social scientists futurologists those working in industry as well as general readers Some have described the 20th Century as the century of the car Now that century has come to a close and things are about to change

Imperfect Oracle Theodore L. Brown, 2015-08-26 Science and its offshoot technology enter into the very fabric of our society in so many ways that we cannot imagine life without them We are surrounded by crises and debates over climate change stem cell research AIDS evolutionary theory and intelligent design the use of DNA in solving crimes and many other issues Society is virtually forced to follow our natural tendency which is to give great weight to the opinions of scientific experts How is it that these experts have come to acquire such authority and just how far does their authority reach Does specialized knowledge entitle scientists to moral authority as well How does scientific authority actually function in our society and what are the countervailing social forces including those deriving from law politics and religion with which it has to contend Theodore Brown seeks to answer such questions in this magisterial work of synthesis about the role of science in society In Part I he elucidates the concept of authority and its relation to autonomy and then traces the historical growth of scientific authority and its place in contemporary American society In Part II he analyzes how scientific authority plays out in relation to other social domains such as law religion government and the public sphere

The Wiley Blackwell Companion to Cultural and Social Geography Ishan Ashutosh, Jamie Winders, 2025-07-08 Addresses both social and cultural geography in a single volume authored and edited by leading authorities in the fields The Companion to Social and Cultural Geography provides reliable and up to date coverage of both foundational topics and emerging themes within two vibrant and increasingly interconnected subdisciplines of geography Building upon the Companion to Cultural Geography first published in 2013 editors Ishan Ashutosh and Jamie Winders offer an expertly curated collection of original essays with special emphasis on early career scholars geographers of color and geographers from the Global South Organized thematically the Companion opens with a series of Global Dispatches from cultural and social geographers working in different disciplines and locations followed by explorations of key concepts in social and cultural geography such as identity belonging solidarity inequalities and intersectional geographies Subsequent chapters examine a wide range of cultural and social geographies including creativity technologies science nature memory tourism migration labor and religion Throughout the Companion authors share fresh insights into the racial reckonings of late ongoing issues related to climate change the consequences of COVID 19 and more Across its 46 chapters the Companion to Social and Cultural Geography Examines how approaches to human environment dynamics in social and cultural geography help shed light on current challenges Covers critical topics such as justice protest borders public health urban planning indigeneity genders class race and sexualities Emphasizes the value of a geographic perspective to understanding social and cultural dynamics Discusses how geography has confronted its deep connections to colonialism imperialism and white supremacy Addresses a range of emerging and established themes including queer and transgender geographies Black geographies animal geographies and cultural geographies of states Incorporates a diversity of writing styles narratives and analyses such as interviews conversations short essays autobiography and autoethnography Accessible authoritative and highly relevant to today s students the Companion to Social and Cultural Geography is an essential textbook for undergraduate or graduate courses on social or cultural geography cultural studies cultural sociology and ethnic studies Nature, Society and Environmental Crisis Bob Carter,Nickie Charles,2010-04-05 Many of the chapters in the present volume were first presented at the 2008 BSA Annual Conference of Social Worlds Natural Worlds held at the University of Warwick Acknowledgements Laughing Matters, a Longman Topics Reader Marvin Diogenes,2009 Laughing Matters showcases how a range of contemporary writers including Jon Stewart and David Sedaris craft persuasive arguments using humor to make their case while entertaining the reader Many cultural commentators note that we live in an age of comedy Staples of comic rhetoric irony sarcasm and various forms of lampoon and caricature have become dominant forms of public discourse readily available through both traditional print forms and the electronic medis that drive public culture Contemporary comedy helps define public issues and delivers critical perspectives on courses of action judgments on the morality and effectiveness of policy decisions and praise and blame for elected leaders Given this cultural moment a guide to analyzing how comic arguments are made and to crafting such arguments using the rhetorical strategies particular to comedy seems timely Globalism and Regionalism Jonathon Porritt,2008 Globalism and Regionalism considers the impact that dwindling resources and restricted travel will have on global competitiveness and regional identity Competition between countries is likely to increase Whilst this may lead to conflict it could also facilitate greater creativity This in turn will put a premium on technological advancement and on our ability to respond rapidly to change Simultaneously regionalism will develop and localities could become more distinctive and potentially aggressive Edge Futures are a series of five books that explore the impact that climate change will have on different aspects of our lives in the future They are available to order as individual titles or as a complete set The Edge is an innovative and creative think tank sponsored by building industry professions that seeks to stimulate public interest in policy questions that affect the built environment and to inform and influence public opinion Jonathon Porritt is Chair of the UK Sustainable Development Commission SDC and formerly Director of Friends of the Earth Work and the City Francis Duffy,2008 Working explores how climate change will affect the way we work and live Newsletter ,2006 Education and Creativity Simon Foxell,William J. Mitchell,2008 Education and Creativity two views on the future of education Simon

Foxell examines the possible outcomes of current government policy for personalised learning in an increasingly stressed and competitive world Whilst William J Mitchell offers the education methodology developed for getting the best out of students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as a potential educational model for teaching and learning in general Book Jacket African Business, 2006 Field Notes from a Catastrophe Elizabeth Kolbert, 2006 In writing that is both clear and unbiased Kolbert an acclaimed New Yorker journalist approaches global warming from every angle She travels to the Arctic the North of England Holland and Puerto Rico interviews researchers and environmentalists explains the science and the studies draws frightening parallels to lost ancient civilizations unpacks the politics and presents the personal tales of those who are being affected most the people who make their homes near the poles and in an eerie foreshadowing are watching their worlds disappear Scientists have been warning the world since the late 1970s that the build up of carbon dioxide in our atmosphere threatens to melt the polar ice sheets and irreversibly change our climate With little done since then to alter this dangerous course now is the moment for all the countries in the world but perhaps especially the USA to face up to the realities of global warming and to secure our future By the end of the century the world will probably be hotter than it s been in the last two million years and the sweeping consequences of this change will determine the future of life on earth for generations to come Field Notes from a Catastrophe brings the environment into the consciousness of the reader and asks what if anything can be done and how we can save our planet Preparing for Climate Change Michael D.

Mastrandrea, Stephen H. Schneider, 2010-09-10 Even with aggressive efforts to reduce greenhouse gases the scientific consensus predicts that the Earth s temperatures will continue to rise for decades Climbing temperatures are already having serious consequences for vulnerable people and regions through droughts extreme weather and melting glaciers The authors maintain that we must start adapting to climate change now by identifying the places and people most at risk and taking anticipatory action from developing drought resistant crops to building sea walls Climate change is inevitable but disaster is not The author s proposal for reducing greenhouse gas emissions while preparing for their effects offers our best hope

Field Notes from a Catastrophe Elizabeth Kolbert, 2012-04-12 _____ A superbly crafted diligently compressed vision of a world spiralling towards destruction Observer Kolbert mesmerises with her poetic cadence in this riveting view of the apocalypse already upon us Robert F Kennedy Jr The most frightening book I ve read this century Times Literary Supplement _____ Elizabeth Kolbert s environmental classic Field Notes from a Catastrophe first developed out of a groundbreaking award winning three part series in The New Yorker She expanded it into a still concise yet richly researched and damning book about climate change a primer on the greatest challenge facing the world today In the years since the story has continued to develop the situation has become more dire even as our understanding of it grows Now Kolbert returns to the defining book of her career with new chapters on ocean acidification the tar sands and a Danish town that s gone carbon neutral Field Notes from a Catastrophe remains as necessary as ever and a must read for our moment

H Is for Hope Elizabeth Kolbert, 2024-03-26 In twenty six essays one for each letter of the alphabet the Pulitzer Prize winning author of The Sixth Extinction takes us on a hauntingly illustrated journey through the history of climate change and the uncertainties of our future Climate change resists narrative and yet some account of what s happening is needed Millions of lives are at stake and upward of a million species And there are decisions to be made even though it s unclear who exactly will make them In H Is for Hope Elizabeth Kolbert investigates the landscape of climate change from A for Svante Arrhenius who created the world s first climate model in 1894 to Z for the Colorado River Basin ground zero for climate change in the United States Along the way she looks at Greta Thunburg s blah blah blah speech B learns to fly an all electric plane E experiments with the effects of extreme temperatures on the human body T and struggles with the deep uncertainty of the future of climate change U Adapted from essays originally published in The New Yorker and beautifully illustrated by Wesley Allsbrook H Is for Hope is simultaneously inspiring alarming and darkly humorous a unique examination of our changing world

Unpacking Climate Change David Hallows, groundWork (Firm : Pietermaritzburg, South Africa), 2013

Field Notes for Future Climate Scientists Nicolette Bull, 2018 How can a book facilitate direct experience with nature while incorporating place based learning and action oriented education If everyone has a right to education art and a healthy environment how does one ensure a book can be produced and distributed inclusively and equitably Is there a way to teach children methods of community organizing and participatory action research Field Notes for Future Climate Scientists was made with all these questions in mind As climate change becomes a growing concern for future generations the book offers creative strategies to cope with and prepare for extreme and unexpected natural events
