Fifth World Of Forster Bennett Portrait:

The Fifth World of Forster Bennett Vincent Crapanzano, 2003-01-01 It is told that the ancestors of the Navajos journeyed through four worlds to reach the fifth or present one The pressing complexities and underlying wonder of their fifth world of modern reservation life are portrayed in this classic ethnographic account by Vincent Crapanzano As a young inexperienced anthropologist Crapanzano spent a summer with a Navajo man he calls Forster Bennett In his fifties Bennett was raised during the early reservation years fought in the South Pacific in the Second World War and like many carried a deep but not always openly expressed resentment toward whites Crapanzano s honest and gritty account of his time with Bennett and Bennett s community reveals a stark portrait of the flat slow quality of reservation life where boredom and poverty coexist with age old sacred rituals and the varying ways that Navajos react and adjust to changes in their culture The Fifth World of Forster Bennett Crapanzano, 2003 The Fifth World of Forster Bennett Vincent Crapanzano, 1973 American Indian Autobiography, 2008-05-01 American Indian Autobiography is a kind of cultural kaleidoscope whose narratives come to us from a wide range of American Indians warriors farmers Christian converts rebels and assimilationists peyotists shamans hunters Sun Dancers artists and Hollywood Indians spiritualists visionaries mothers fathers and English professors Many of these narratives are as told to autobiographies and those who labored to set them down in writing are nearly as diverse as their subjects Black Elk had a poet for his amanuensis Maxidiwiac a Hidatsa farmer who worked her fields with a bone blade hoe had an anthropologist Two Leggings the man who led the last Crow war party speaks to us through a merchant from Bismarck North Dakota White Horse Eagle an aged Osage told his story to a Nazi historian By discussing these remarkable narratives from a historical perspective H David Brumble III reveals how the various editors assumptions and methods influenced the autobiographies as well as the autobiographers Brumble also and perhaps most importantly describes the various oral autobiographical traditions of the Indians themselves including those of N Scott Momaday and Leslie Marmon Silko American Indian Autobiography includes an extensive bibliography this Bison Books edition features a new introduction by the author Terrain of Memory Kirsten Emiko McAllister, 2011-01-01 For communities who have been the target of political violence the after effects can haunt what remains of their families their communities and the societies in which they live Terrain of Memory tells the story of the Japanese Canadian elders who built a memorial in 1994 to mark a village in an isolated mountainous valley in British Columbia with their history of internment It explores memory as a powerful collective cultural practice following elders and locals as they worked together to transform a site of political violence into a space for remembrance They transformed a valley where once over 7 000 women men and children were interned into a pilgrimage site where Japanese Canadians can mourn and also pay their respects to the wartime generation This is a compelling story about how collectively excavating painful memories can contribute to building relations across social and intergenerational divides Native American Life-history Narratives Susan Berry Brill de Ramírez, 2007 The author provides methods for the study of American Indian ethnographic texts and disputes some previous assumptions about the sources of the stories in Son of Old Man Hat Keeping Slug Woman Alive Greg Sarris, 1993 This remarkable collection of eight essays offers a rare perspective on the issue of cross cultural communication Greg Sarris is concerned with American Indian texts both oral and written as well as with other American Indian cultural phenomena such as basketry and religion His essays cover a range of topics that include orality art literary criticism and pedagogy and demonstrate that people can see more than just what things seem to be Throughout he asks How can we read across cultures so as to encourage communication rather than to close it down Sarris maintains that cultural practices can be understood only in their living changing contexts Central to his approach is an understanding of storytelling a practice that embodies all the indeterminateness structural looseness multivalence and richness of culture itself He describes encounters between his Indian aunts and Euro American students and the challenge of reading in a reservation classroom he brings the reports of earlier ethnographers out of museums into the light of contemporary literary and anthropological theory Sarris's perspective is exceptional son of a Coast Miwok Pomo father and a Jewish mother he was raised by Mabel McKay a renowned Cache Creek Pomo basketweaver and medicine woman and by others Indian and non Indian in Santa Rosa California Educated at Stanford he is now a university professor and recently became Chairman of the Federated Coast Miwok tribe His own story is woven into these essays and provides valuable insights for anyone interested in cross cultural communication including educators theorists of language and culture and general readers National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1973 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 The Publishers Weekly, 1924 Paperbound Book Guide for Colleges, 1972
