and the Diva Karen Henson, 2016-09-12 In Technology and the Diva Karen Henson brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars to explore the neglected subject of opera and technology Their essays focus on the operatic soprano and her relationships with technology from the heyday of Romanticism in the 1820s and 1830s to the twenty first century digital age The authors pay particular attention to the soprano in her larger than life form as the diva and they consider how her voice and allure have been created by technologies and media including stagecraft and theatrical lighting journalism the telephone sound recording and visual media from the painted portrait to the high definition simulcast In doing so the authors experiment with new approaches to the female singer to opera in the modern and post modern eras and to the often controversial subject of opera's involvement with technology and technological innovation The Doctor and the Diva

Exhibiting the German Past Peter M. McIsaac, Gabriele Mueller, 2015-09-15 While scholars recognize both museums and films as sites where historical knowledge and cultural memory are created the convergence between their methods of constructing the past has only recently been acknowledged The essays in Exhibiting the German Past examine a range of films museums and experiences which blend the two considering how authentic objects and cinematic techniques are increasingly used in similar ways by both visual media and museums This is the first collection to focus on the museum film connection in German language culture and the first to approach the issue using the concept of musealization a process that because it engages the cultural destruction wrought by modernization offers new means of constructing historical knowledge and shaping collective memory within and beyond the museum s walls Featuring a wide range of valuable case studies Exhibiting the German Past offers a unique perspective on the developing relationship between museums and visual media
